TRAVEL
1.5 hours
(Day 1)

Arrival

Arrive at Accra International Airport, where our local team will welcome you and drive you to your accommodation in the Akuapem Hills, approximately an hour and a half from the capital. Once settled, you'll have time to get familiar with your new surroundings.

Your first full day starts with a project induction. Our team will cover your project schedule, provide a safety briefing, and introduce you to local customs before taking you on a guided tour of the area. You will also have the opportunity to change money, get a SIM card, and enjoy a welcome lunch featuring authentic Ghanaian flavours.

To end the day, engage in a language lesson to help you better communicate with the community throughout your stay.

Clinical shadowing & outreach

Immerse yourself in the local healthcare environment as you shadow doctors and nurses at health centres. You will follow active cases and observe how they deliver patient care firsthand.

This experience is complemented by a professional workshop offering insight into Ghana's broader healthcare system and the management of tropical diseases. You will also spend time preparing for your upcoming community outreach by learning how to perform basic health checks and tests.

As your first week comes to an end, head out into the local community to put your training into practice. Visit community members under the guidance of a medical professional to check vital signs, assist with treatments for conditions like ringworm, and conduct screenings for malaria and hepatitis B.

When you're not working, you'll have plenty of time to relax, become a master of local games such as "oware", and share your experience during a guided feedback session.

Cape Coast & Kakum National Park

Start your weekend with a scenic drive down to Cape Coast. Learn about the Portuguese colonisation and the region's slave trade history as you explore the Cape Coast Castle. After a beach picnic, immerse yourself in local arts with an evening at your hotel, where you'll watch a traditional music and dance performance before joining a hands-on drumming and dance class.

Your exploration of the coast continues the next day with a Kakum National Park visit. There, cross the high canopy walkway to get a fantastic vantage point for spotting local wildlife like monkeys and antelope. After a relaxing lunch by a lake, you'll head back to Akuapem Hills, with a stop at West Mills Mall, a major shopping centre located on the Cape Coast Highway.

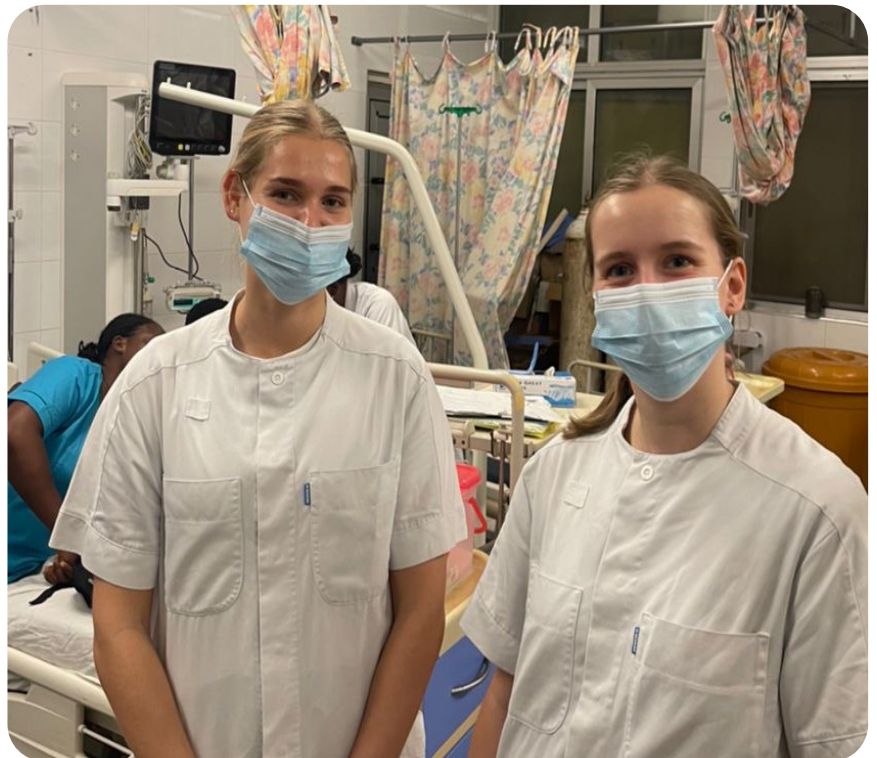

Traditional medicine & community awareness

Before returning to clinical shadowing, discover a different side of the Ghanaian medical system with a visit to the Centre for Traditional Medicine, where you will learn about the role of herbal healing.

Your week will be balanced between shadowing medical teams to observe active cases and attending professional workshops designed to deepen your knowledge of public health. You will also dedicate time to a disease prevention campaign, running health awareness lessons at a local school to support the community.

Beyond your medical training, you'll enjoy an authentic cultural experience through social activities, including a hands-on traditional cooking class, a tour of a Gari-making factory, and an evening watching an African movie.

As your time in Ghana comes to a close, you'll celebrate your achievements during a farewell dinner, the perfect opportunity to reflect, take group photos, and enjoy one last taste of local flavours.

Departure

Reflect on the incredible journey you've undertaken and the memories you've made. Look back on the incredible work you've done and how you've contributed to the local communities in the Akuapem Hills with pride.

Think about your newfound confidence, clinical skills, and cultural understanding; these are experiences that will stay with you for the rest of your life.

Destination Info

Formerly called The Gold Coast, Ghana became an independent nation in 1957, and the first African country colonised by Europeans to achieve independence under majority rule. Still famed for gold and cocoa production, it's a treasure trove of cultural and natural experiences.

Explore lush rainforests, cascading waterfalls, and golden beaches, or get stuck in the lively music and dance scene. With a rich mix of languages and traditions, its people are known for their warmth and hospitality.

Learning Outcomes

GLOBAL HEALTHCARE

Students will explore how healthcare systems differ around the world and develop an understanding of the social, cultural, and economic factors that shape health and access to care.

CLINICAL INSIGHT

Through exposure to real-world clinical settings, students will learn about the realities of patient care and explore how medical practices are applied in different global contexts. Close observation and supervision from healthcare professionals will develop students' understanding of applied clinical skills.

EMPATHY & CULTURAL AWARENESS

Students will gain a deeper appreciation of the experiences and challenges faced by different communities, developing empathy, cultural awareness, and a more globally minded approach to healthcare.
